UPDATED CDC GUIDANCE ON INTERNATIONAL AIR TRAVEL -- The following guidance goes into effect November 8, 2021:

Non-U.S. citizens who are not immigrants to the United States are required to be fully vaccinated and provide proof of their vaccination status to fly to the United States. There will be very limited exceptions to this vaccination requirement for certain non-U.S. citizens who are not immigrants, including children under the age of 18.

All fully-vaccinated air passengers, regardless of citizenship, are required to show a negative pre-departure COVID-19 test taken no more than three days before they board their flight to the United States. Passengers who are not fully vaccinated require a test taken no more than one day before departing to the United States.

All air passengers to the United States are required to provide basic contact information to airlines before boarding flights to the United States. This will allow airlines to better coordinate with public health agencies to share information when needed to keep the public safe and informed, and strengthen their ability to rapidly identify and contact people in the U.S. who may have been exposed to a communicable disease, such as COVID-19.
